

2012 Predictions

by: ©Mz. Mugzzi, Published January 03, 2012

Blessings to you all for the courage and strength to release your old "junk in the trunk" and prepare for the new horizons. Many eventful paradigm shifts will occur this year and it will leave you smiling. The struggle is actually behind us. Now comes what we have all manifested, our new Gold Age reality.

Let me start off by saying that the most important aspect of your life is YOU! It is your challenge this year to get in alignment with the new frequencies of the Golden Age. That is a higher frequency of the love, respect, dedication, and admiration for your world around you.

Those of you that are doing and done your personal, internal, house cleaning will notice a gentle glide of life changes that are for the betterment of the life style you deserve. For those that still believe in screwing someone to get ahead or other negative schemes will be out of alignment with our vibration. It would be similar to driving your car out of alignment. The more out of alignment you are, the more bumpy and uncomfortable the ride will be. Now is the time that your higher self, and army angels; will guide you into wiser choices. Resist not, for they too have a way of shinning light on our stubborn heads. The more stubborn you are, the harder the nudges become....it's up to you.

The reason why this year's predictions are the most difficult year to predict, is because there are so many time lines and life experiences and outcomes all at one time. From my point of view it looks like a major city and cross-over's everywhere. That means so many people will be choosing different paths, different outcomes, different awakening, different life style challenges...etc. The best I can do for all, is to remind you to improve you. Are you the person you want to be in the Golden Age? Are you exhibiting the behaviors, for all living things, the way you want it to be shown back to you? Seriously, the most important aspect of this year is getting your frequency in alignment with mother nature and her vibration. Get your tune-up and you will see an easy transition into a new reality.

The next most important aspect of 2012 is your health. Given you have worked and healed relationships, created and participated in more aware and loving friend's networks, and created a loving world around you; now you need to make sure your vehicle is ready for these higher vibes. They will be coming in full force and no amount of chemtrails can stop them. Let's not forget, our loving space brothers/sisters went ahead in time and saw what they were doing now. Hence, the corrections are in place and you will get your "higher self downloads" just the way you planned. Nothing will stand in the way of your enlightenment. It's yours and no one can take that away from you.

Now, since you are at the stage where you are aware of your world; now you will need to learn some skills. No longer can you rely on someone else to hold your hand and do things for you. It is important for you to learn about the legal system, health and wellness, computers, free energy, cars, sustaining housing, educational systems, gardening or horticulture, sewing, relationship skills, communication skills, and water conservation. These are a few areas that you should have some basic knowledge. Why? It's part of the plan so you can become responsible and better decision makers about events that take place in your life. It will give you confidence, courage, wisdom, and a calmness knowing you can deal with anything that is thrown at you.

It would be wise to get in groups that share knowledge. This will help to expedite your learning curve. Now, I understand that a lot of people are without jobs, corporations closing, lack of industry and its all coming down. The flip side of the situation is you have a plethora of opportunities. This is the ground floor and lots of job opportunities. Your success will be based on you searching for your niche, what you are comfortable with, and provide a service for others. Owning your own business, starting with others as a compilation of services...so many new opportunities are available. The grabbing is for the ones that reach. Those that sit on their behinds and whine due to no one giving them a job will experience no job. Those that have no job and retrain for a new job with our new world and tons of jobs available; will be working forever more. Trust me, there will be lots of areas for redevelopment and bringing in the creative future.

Education, health care, agriculture, technology, housing, cars, businesses, law, administration, counseling; are some of the areas that will have tons of openings for the new thinker. The ones that want to improve our world and not stifle it, will be necessary for our development. New innovation will be greatly rewarded. What you are attracted to, chances are, you have previous knowledge in this area and probably why you incarnated at this time. Follow your passion and do only that which makes your heart sing. Then you will be doing the right thing.

I realize that the dark cabal and wonderful teachers of duality need to step down. For the most part, no joke, a lot of them are ready for a change too. They want to move forward with a brighter reality and are bored with their structured hammy-down system their great grand fathers drafted. There will be a few people that will stubbornly want to hang on to their ways...change is not easy for everyone. They too will be hit with the enlightenment rays and if out of alignment it will drive them mad or want out. The choice is theirs to make. WE do not need to be so preoccupied with their demise because there are others that are in charge of that venue. It's their destiny to do so, and they are trained professionals and have lots of guidance helping them. I would say, keep an eye on it and monitor their success. If they need some back-up we can be there for them. But for the most part, they have it handled.

For the new systems that will be unfolding soon, please see my 2008 predictions here:

<http://www.mzmugzzi.com/predictions.html>

February, big changes coming for these hidden systems to start coming into view. The new, sovereign model of monetary system, is also at hand. The ones in charge are going to present it when the time is safe, right, and secured. This money system is just the first phase, I can hear some of you moaning (hang on), but our societies will begin to barter more and the use for money will become less and less. No taxes, NO student loans, NO doctor bills, NO car payments, No credit card debts and how you ask?

Cars that run on water and then free energy...no cost! Electricity for your homes, FREE energy. Water, FREE, with your smart self sustaining home. Grow your own food right in the lobby of your homes and FREE education. Most people will learn the art of healing. Very little spent on disease, vaccines, or pharma created illnesses. WE can cure them all. Are you starting to see the new view of our world? The need for a monetary system will start to decrease itself very rapidly. Hence, the monetary system will start to become an obsolete system in the years to come.

August will be another big movement forward with our new paradigm. Now as far as the dark ones that are playing their role, I am not going to show them the other team's hand. For this reason, no comment. There are some things that go better unsaid for the betterment of all and this is such a time.

This is a very exciting time and many wonderful things will begin to come to light. The wars, not getting it. I truly believe that we have some very smart and wise people in power position that are not going to let the pendulum go in the direction of darkness. This time, we are a lot wiser and we do have memories of the past occurrences. Furthermore, we brought lots of help and our big brothers and sisters are here with us to make this transition. Humanity will be free so start creating what you want or need in your new life. It is coming and I hope you will be ready to jump on the gravy train when it pulls into town. It is not advisable to wait for the last train due to missing your opportunities, just a thought.

Do you need a temperature gauge to test how wonderful you are? Look at how much you grew, adapted, completed in one year! Last year, 2011 was a hefty year for us all and with few scrapes, you conquered the most challenging year. Now the systems are in place, the people are ready, the money is funded, and the Universe is behind us and Mother Nature is drawing us to a new world. You have arrived! With great excitement I look forward to this wonderful year and welcome the exciting changes that will be presented. You are now, here!

With my starry eyed optimism, we will skirt around the challenges and the sleeping giants of humanity will rise up and come into view soon. Stay alert and prepare for your new you. Whatever it is that you want to make of yourself for the new reality is what is your focus. The dark teachers are falling apart and down. They know it is game up and no longer viable to continue on the charted destiny of the past.

We really did ring in the "New Year"!

Dancing for 2012,

Sam Mugzzi